30 cases of child and elderly abuse investigated in county during September

The Coffee County Department of Human Resources has released its monthly bulletin for the month of October and in the bulletin County Director Ronald Smith reported that the department was "operating smoothly and the morale of the staff was very good."

Widening and resurfacing of Hwy. 87 now underway near Elba city limits

The State of Alabama Highway Department wishes to inform the traveling public that Wiregrass Construction Co. will begin work on October 28, 1988 on Alabama #87 from Mile Post #21.446 to Mile Post #31.923. The work will consist of Drainage Structures, Widening and Resurfacing. The contractor will furnish adequate traffic control warning devices, including flagmen, reflectorized signs, warning lights, cones, barricades, barrels and any other devices deemed necessary to protect the traveling public during the life of the project. The traveling public is urged to pervisor Debbie Jones reported that in September the Food Stamp office issued to a total of 1,112 households, with the total members of the households being 2,752. The value of the stamps issued was $115,083.

Eligibility and Child Support Unit Supervisor Dianne

Parker noted that medicaid was expanding by "leaps and bounds" and reported that in the past month her office took as many medicaid applications as it did applications for aid to dependent children.

Child Support collections were high once again in September and collections totaled $41,881.40. Children's Services Supervisor Cathie Hansen reported that during the last month her office investigated 10 cases of physical abuse, 13 cases of neglect and 4 cases of sexual abuse.

Hansen stated that the department may now charge fees for home investigations in divorce and custody cases that are ordered by trial judges. The department investigates only when an allegation of child abuse/neglect is involved.

Community Resources and Adult Services Supervisor Glenda Frazier stated that the Active Parenting Classes were again being offered in the county. The classes are open to eligible mothers and to attend one should contact the local department. Adult investigations during the month included 2 cases of neglect and 1 case of exploitation.

LOGGING TRUCK ACCIDENT BLOCKS HIGHWAY...A log truck overturned on Tuesday night, Oct. 27 on Highway 84 West, near Danley's Crossroads and blocked the highway for over an hour as clean up crews moved the wrecked tractor-trailer rig and re-stacked the logs. The driver of the truck was unharmed in the accident.

Coffee County election workshop set for tonight at Farm Center office complex

Probate Judge Marion B. Brinson and Secretary of State Glen Browder announce that a county election workshop/school will be held to implement a recent federal court order affecting this fall's election. This workshop/school will be held as a part of the regular training for poll officials. The public is invited. The schedule is as follows: November 3, 1988 at 6:30 P. M. At the Farm Center in

New Brockton, Alabama. Federal Judge Myron Thompson issued the court order September 7. One of the changes it brings about is a state certification program. Anyone successfully participating in the workshop/schools will be certified and eligible for appointment as a poll official. Secretary of State Browder says, "Most poll officials for the November election have been appointed and will receive training. However, state law requires that such election officials in counties where machines are used shall receive instructions; and if those who have already been appointed do not attend the workshop/school, they may be replaced by individuals who do attend and are certified. Whether or not they serve in this election citizens certified will become part of the pool from which future officials will be appointed. Periodic re-training will be necessary to maintain certification."

The court order requires four changes in polling procedures:

- 1) A non-discrimination oath will be administered to each poll official.
- 2) The assistance procedure was changed eliminating the requirement that voters give the reason for needing assistance.
- 3) Procedures governing time allowed to vote were changed. The judge's order makes clear that the time allowed for individuals to vote can be limited only when others are waiting in line.
- 4) A complaint/evaluation form will now be available at each polling place for voters who wish to comment or complain about the election process.

Farm-City Week banquet set for Nov. 15 at county Farm Center

The Farm-City banquet will be held Nov. 15 at the Farm Complex in New Brockton, beginning at 6:30 p.m. Guest speaker will be long-time DeKalb County agent Curtis O'Daniel.

Awards such as the annual Farm of Distinction, recognition of 4-H and young farmers will be made.

Civic clubs will entertain farmers at their meetings on the following dates: Kiwanis - Nov. 17; Rotary - Nov. 22; Lions - Nov. 23. The annual tour of various school classes to see farm animals will be held during the week also.

TEST RIDE ENDS IN UNEXPECTED ENDING...An Elba man who was test riding a motorcycle before making up his mind on whether or not to buy the vehicle may have had his mind made up for him last Thursday afternoon when he lost control of the cycle and struck a ditch, causing minor injuries to both the man and the motorcycle. Lewis Bernard Reed, age 30, was riding the motorcycle on Stoumenire Street and reported that when he applied the brakes to enter a curve he lost control and left the roadway before finally striking a ditch. Elba Rescue Squad members were called to the scene and Reed was treated for minor injuries. In the photo above, rescue workers apply first aid to Reed prior to transporting him to the hospital.

Veterans Memorial to be dedicated Nov.10

The Veterans Memorial Park in Elba will be dedicated in ceremonies on Thursday, Nov. 10 at 2 p.m. The park is located on U.S. Hwy. 84 East at the intersection of

Ala. Hwy. 87 adjacent to National Security Insurance Company's corporate headquarters. The Enterprise State Junior College Singers and the 98th Army

Band from Ft. Rucker will perform. For additional information about the upcoming event, call Mickey Murdock at 897-2273.

TAKING CARE OF THE EVIDENCE...Members of the Elba Police Department were busy last week cleaning out old evidence that had been locked in the vault at the police station. Some of the items had been in the vault for over five years and the evidence thrown away included whiskey, moonshine, beer, wine, marijuana and other contraband. In the photo above, Chief Freddie Hanchey (right) and officers Doug Weeks and Sam DeVane get ready to head to the city dump to destroy the evidence.

BLEED THROUGH

BRAINSTORMS

With Ferrin Cox

Election time is just around the corner in America. That is it next Tuesday. We don't expect any surprises in the presidential race with the Republicans winning four more years in the White House. Things might have been better for the Democrats (Dukakis ain't that a guy) if their campaign had not spent so much time on the defensive rather than either attacking the opposition or better still, pointing out his own good points. The Bush folks pointed out anything that might be a negative on the Democratic candidate and the Democrats helped voters believe the charges were really bad by spending all their time defending them.

We will be splitting our ballot come next Tuesday. First we will vote for the Republican candidate for president. Then we will look down the list at the individual candidates and select the one we feel is best for the country. Of course we are like most people and will vote for what is best for us personally and assume that has got to be best for America.

For a long, long time we have supported Bill Dickinson. In fact we had the honor of voting with him in the 1964 election . . . before he took on Coffee County. We had not moved our voting registration and therefore have been on his bandwagon for a long, long time. He ain't perfect, but is about as close to our thinking as a sane man can get. His Democratic opponent withdrew, but there is still a Huntsville man (yes way out of the district but it is apparently legal) running as a Libertarian against him but we can't even think of supporting anyone but Bill.

We will vote for the Democratic judge candidates. We didn't vote for several of them during the primary but feel we would rather have these folks than their opposition. Of course the judge on the ticket who has been the longest in Supreme Court Justice Hugh Maddox and he has always had our admiration and support. He knows what hard work is and has never been one to shy away from it either. Oscar Adams Jr. and Henry Steagall are also men we are not ashamed to say we have supported and will continue to do so. E. C. Hornsby, Mark Kennedy, William Robertson and Bill Bowen are all new to us but we are more comfortable with them than their opponents.

Jim Sullivan is our choice for President of the Public Service Commission. We have known Jim since he was in diapers and feel we can look you in the eye and say "This man will do you right."

Now we are down to the local races and again we urge you to vote for the individual YOU feel will best serve Coffee County.

There are five amendments on the ballot and we suggest you read about them before going to the polls. Number 1 deals with the investments of state trust funds and the best we can tell, still has necessary safeguards while improving income potential for the state. Number 2 is a revision of the one we turned down last time. They have attempted to clean it up to close some of the open checkbook approval it left for the folks involved. We will vote yes this time around. Number 3 is only dealing with Marion County and allows the creation of a public water authority. We vote yes and let them decide what they want up there. Number 4 is to protect the cities and counties a little from the tactics of special interest bills by legislators. It would allow the governing body at least until next budget time before starting to pay the cost created with the new bill (pay raise, etc.) We strongly support this and wish it was stronger. We have little trouble with this in Coffee County because Representative Holley works closely with the local governments but other areas have nightmares with it. Number 5 deals with the promotion of catfish and the cost is assessed to the seller of the catfish and as with other similar bills, it is on a volunteer basis. We of course will vote yes to allow them to do with their money exactly as they choose.

We are apparently getting too old to be covering the Elba City Council meetings anymore. After all this is the seventh consecutive mayor we have covered in Elba and we are getting a bit impatient. At least last week we were. We were extremely tired going in and the matters being discussed at the meeting have been discussed by city councils . . . apparently without permanent solutions . . . many, many times. Now that isn't fair to the sitting council members, but last week this country boy was tired and wasn't interested in being fair to anyone, especially a politician.

The Elba High School band went to a marching contest in Enterprise last Saturday and did well. Now we don't get real excited about a band getting "all 1's" at a particular contest because we have been to a lot of band competitions and know how things are often done. You have to hear or read the judges' reports on all the bands to really know what happened. That is until a band is singled out for Best In Class and then additionally honored as best in the whole division. The Elba High School band returned home Saturday night with this distinction and deserve all the roses we care to throw at them.

It is getting to be almost routine, but the Elba High School football team has again made the state playoffs and begins the second leg of their quest for a state title this Friday night. We already have our special ticket from the state athletic association and will be in Elba's Miller Stadium Friday night cheering for the Tigers.

Very few students will follow through with their music and/or sports far enough to make a career of either. However the experts point out that we can look back on successful adults and find that they worked hard at their extracurricular activities as students. Elba High School should produce a bunch of successful adults in the next few years!

We have several people offering choice thoughts to match our promise to really fix Eddie Vaughan for something (we forget what) he wisecracked about several weeks ago. Sunday we were told of his antics Wednesday when Governor Hunt was in Coffee County. According to our reports, Eddie was buddy-buddy with that Republican during his visit to the county. We don't really feel that is something to brag about, even though Mr. Vaughan is an executive in the Democratic Party as well as being an Elba city official. After all, Hunt is OUR governor and Eddie is OUR city councilman. Both need to be working for a common goal of making this a better place for us to raise our children and take care of our senior citizens.

The Federal Communications Commission is considering a radical change in the way they figure the telephone rate structure. Presently the utilities are allowed a certain percent of profit above expenses. Anyone who knows their math understands that the higher the expenses, the more dollars are in the percentage for the profit to the owners. Now we ain't opposed to the profit motive at all, but if we were assured of a certain percent of profit, your newspaper could (no - would) be costing a whole lot more than it does now! With the method under consideration the companies would have some incentive to keep the cost down, because it would improve their profits. We like it already!

Peanuts-Keep Them Fresh Year Round

When is a nut not a nut? When it's a peanut. Most people consider the peanut a member of the nut family, but actually it is a legume. As such, it is closely related to the pea family.

The peanut industry has developed right along with the country. Some of the earliest records kept by southern colonists mentioned peanuts although not much was done with them commercially until after the war between the states. Thanks to George Washington Carter, peanuts are now a major crop. Alabama has approximately 200,000 acres planted in peanuts and is the second largest producer in the United States.

Food Value

Peanuts are exceptionally high in niacin and are important for other B vitamins. They contain calcium, iron, and phosphorus. Among vegetable foods, the peanut rates high in protein content—it is about 26 percent protein. For the most efficient use of peanut protein, some animal protein such as meat, milk, or eggs should be eaten at the same meal. Peanuts are a good source of food energy because of high fat content, 40 to 50 percent. Fifteen medium peanuts supply about 150 calories. 1 cup supplies 810 calories. It takes about 1 1/2 pounds of peanuts of peanuts in the shell to get 1 pound or 3 to 3 1/2 cups shelled kernels.

Selection

Select peanuts that do not have splits, cracks, stains, or holes. Moldy peanuts may not be safe to eat.

Storage

For best eating quality, peanuts need to be protected from air and moisture. Also, high temperatures may cause the fat in peanuts to become rancid. Keep peanuts in tightly closed moisture-vapor-resistant containers in the refrigerator to retain their crispness and flavor. Or, they can be preserved by canning or freezing. Lower temperatures keep peanut quality better than high temperatures (see table below).

Peanuts keep better in their shells, but shelled ones will keep fresh for several months stored in tightly closed containers. Unsalted peanuts keep better than salted ones, and unsalted peanuts keep better than roasted ones. Whole pea-

Storage Life Of Shelled Peanuts

Combine sugar, corn syrup, butter or margarine, and salt and bring to a boil over low heat. Slowly pour the syrup mixture over the beaten eggs, stirring constantly. Add vanilla and peanuts and pour into pie shell. Bake at 375 degrees F. for 40 to 50 minutes or until the filling is set and the nuts are brown.

15 degrees F. - 3 years

Peanut Butter

Peanut butter is made by grinding well roasted, skinned peanuts with or without salt. Mixing Virginia and Spanish peanuts generally gives the most desirable proportion of oil and proper consistency. Peanut butter should be fine granular rather than pasty. If too fine, the butter sticks to the roof of your mouth, and if too coarse, it is gritty.

4 cups freshly roasted or salted shelled peanuts
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 to 1/2 cup peanut or vegetable oil

Grind roasted peanuts in a food processor or blender, using a medium or small blade. Add salt and about 4 tablespoons of oil. Blend mixture until it is smooth. Add the remainder of the oil if necessary, or just enough to make the peanut butter the desired consistency. Add additional salt if needed.

Fill clean jars. Pack peanut butter tightly. Leave 1 inch head space. Put lids on jars. If peanut butter is to be stored for several months, process in a boiling water bath for 10 minutes. The boiling water bath removes air from the jars and helps prevent the peanut butter from becoming rancid. Remove jars and set on racks to cool slowly. When cool, check to see if jars are sealed. If they are sealed, store in a cool, dark place.

Peanut Pie
1/2 cup sugar
1 1/2 cups corn syrup
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1/4 teaspoon salt
3 eggs, beaten
1/2 teaspoon vanilla

1 cup salted peanut halves

Unbaked 9-inch pie shell

Combine sugar, corn syrup, butter or margarine, and salt and bring to a boil over low heat. Slowly pour the syrup mixture over the beaten eggs, stirring constantly. Add vanilla and peanuts and pour into pie shell. Bake at 375 degrees F. for 40 to 50 minutes or until the filling is set and the nuts are brown.

Peanutty Chicken

1 frying chicken, about 2 1/2 pounds, quartered
1/4 cup flour
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1/2 cup peanut oil
1 medium onion, chopped
1 clove garlic, minced
1 cup water
1/3 cup peanut butter
1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
1 tablespoon sugar
1 tablespoon cider vinegar
1 teaspoon chili powder

Wash chicken and pat dry. Mix flour, salt, and pepper. Roll chicken in flour mixture. Shake off excess flour. Heat oil in large skillet. Brown chicken quarters on all sides. Remove chicken when brown and set aside. Add onion and garlic to pan drippings and cook until lightly browned. Gradually stir in water and remaining ingredients. Stir until smooth and bubbly. Add chicken pieces, cover and simmer for 45 minutes or until chicken is tender. Turn chicken in sauce occasionally. Add more water from time to time, if necessary, to prevent sticking. Add salt to taste. Place chicken on a platter. Skim excess fat from sauce and spoon it over chicken.

Officers Installed At Monthly FBLA Meeting

By: David Jackson
A candlelight ceremony for the installation of officers was the first order of business at the monthly Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA) meeting. Each new officer was called forward to light a candle symbolic of their office. Mrs. Rachel Bryan, FBLA sponsor, was the installing official.

The second order of business was the induction of the new members. The members were accepted for membership and the meaning of the letters in FBLA were explained. Each new member was then called forward to receive their membership cards.

The emblem ceremony was conducted next. In this ceremony the significance of each component of the FBLA emblem was shown. When the ceremony was over the members recited the FBLA creed in unison.

Old business discussed included thanking everyone who participated in the sucker and cake sale. The Big Bear, Mary Herbert, Randy Flowers, Gale Jackson, Sory Bryan, Fran Wallace, and Tonya Bell were recognized for their donation of cakes or for their selling chances on the cakes.

New business included the ordering of paper tacks, talent competition, and appointing standing committees. The committees are: Nominating (Jeff Hussey - chairman), Social (Dana Dean - chairman), Auditing (Stephanie Goodson - chairman), Ways and Means (Lisa Holcomb - chairman), Finance and Fund Raising (Stuart Nelson - chairman), and Executive (Jackie Herbert - chairman).

The FBLA pledge was then recited and the meeting was adjourned. Sausage biscuits and soft drinks were a special "refreshment" treat.

SGA Officers Attend Workshop

By: Pam Franklin

Zion Chapel's Student Council officers and Senior Class president attended a Leadership Workshop, held at Enterprise State Junior College. The workshop was divided into five sessions entitled "Your Public Relations," "Parliamentary Procedure," "Image Awareness," "Time Management," and several concurrent sessions.

Your Public Relations session gave ideas for ways to get attention for club activities like campus posters, fliers, and publicity.

During the "Parliamentary Procedure" session the students learned the essential principles of parliamentary procedure, how to conduct the order of business, and the steps in completing a motion.

In the "Image Awareness" sessions they learned that the way a person dresses and acts affects the way people think about you.

During the "Time Management" sessions they learned tips for effective studying. One of the tips was to learn to break large assignments down into small steps and to learn to establish priorities.

The "Concurrent Group" sessions consisted of four groups. Fund raising, service projects, student activities, and recruitment, retention and recognition of members were the subjects. Fund raising gave ideas to help clubs raise money. Service projects gave the students ideas for helping their communities. Student activities gave ideas to help the needy in the schools. Recruitment, retention, and recognition of members gave ways to attract more members to the club.

The students attending were Randy Flowers, Student Council president; John Parrish, vice president; Dana Dean, secretary; Jennifer Flowers, treasurer; and Senior Class President, Stacy Faison.

STUDENT SPOTLIGHT

By: Donna Parker
Stephen Richards was born November 9, 1970, in Mizell Memorial Hospital in Opp, Alabama. He is the second child of John Henry and Shirley Richards. He has one older brother, Bradley, and one younger sister, Danielle. He and his family live in the Jack Community. Stephen went to Pike County H.S. before coming to Zion Chapel.

Stephen was chosen to be in the Student Spotlight after Mrs. Bryan read the autobiography he wrote as a part of his American History project. That's where Mrs. Bryan found out that he was a licensed pilot.

"I can go back through the halls of my brain and honestly say that one single desire has been with me for almost my entire life. The desire to fly, says Stephen. He was always fascinated by planes so he begged his parents to let him take flying lessons. In October 1986 he began taking flying lessons with an instructor named Curtis Clements. Because Mr. Clements moved, Stephen had to find another instructor. Jeff Koch was his second instructor for a short time. In his autobiography Stephen described getting his license.

"When Jeff and Curtis left I had only 6.8 hours total flying time. I met with another instructor in October of 1987. His name is Timothy Nikkels. From the way he acted I didn't think he was going to move anytime in the immediate future. We started flying and I finally got into a fairly regular routine of flying. Even though I only fly about once a week, it's enough to maintain proficiency. For about two months there, right after I started taking lessons with Tim, I felt like I would never solo. I could take off in the plane and fly it around in circles, figure 8's, and so forth, but for some reason I couldn't land. Right when I was nearing the time that he figured I need to solo or either quit we would go and do touch and goes (takeoffs and landings). After the third one he told me to stop the plane. One the first day I did it by myself he jumped out, signed my license and let me solo.

There's no way to explain the feeling I had on this paper, but I can sure say that it was good. I've gained over 20 hours of solo time since then. Now I've got to start cross country flights and learn the principles of navigation."

"Connections" Become Responsibility Of SGA

By: Stephanie Goodson
The Student Government Association (SGA) has recently taken on a new project. It will be hanging the Connections Posters which appear in the high school halls.

Mr. Bob Andrews, vice-principal, said that when he took on the project last year he intended for it to be a project for the SGA. But, since this club has only recently been reorganized, he completed the project himself last year.

Our school is paid $200 a year to participate in the advertisement campaign for the different products on the posters. The four sets of posters change every two weeks and are delivered two weeks before the date they are to be posted.

Rules At Zion Chapel High School
By: Melissa Johnson
The teachers at Zion Chapel High School put up posters with rules on them in their classrooms. They put the rules up for the students to read. Some of the rules are to sharpen pencils before class, stay in your desk during class, no talking without permission, sit up in your desk at all times, and to throw away trash only at the end of class.

When asked why the sudden rush of posted class rules, one of the teachers who had rules displayed said, "Well I've been at Zion Chapel long enough for my class rules to be well known but I never hurts to have rules displayed for students to see. It makes it easier for them. However, the other reason they are displayed on my wall is that it's an item on the new teacher-evaluation form."

There has been a great improvement, but we've still got a long way to go; this condition still continues to fear to head.

We in Scionville - both black and white - feel that our county officials have made the most gross violation of human rights we have known in the long history of our community.

They asked for 80 feet of right-of-way. We gave - on the promise of getting this short distance of road paved - which is the most heavily traveled dirt road in Coffee County - so that we could get our mail as others do; so our sick could be transported without danger to the patient, the transporting personnel or the equipment.

These conditions have been reported to our county officials over and over - just to be ignored.

We hear the county officials boasting of their all-weather roads; none of them live on these dust bowls, which become mud to sleep, not to haunt us again. My answer - We have come a long way - let us keep the hope.

We in Scionville - both black and white - feel that our county officials have made the most gross violation of human rights we have known in the long history of our community.

They asked for 80 feet of right-of-way. We gave - on the promise of getting this short distance of road paved - which is the most heavily traveled dirt road in Coffee County - so that we could get our mail as others do; so our sick could be transported without danger to the patient, the transporting personnel or the equipment.

These conditions have been reported to our county officials over and over - just to be ignored.

We hear the county officials boasting of their all-weather roads; none of them live on these dust bowls, which become mud to sleep, not to haunt us again. My answer - We have come a long way - let us keep the hope.

As I sit here beside this dust bowl called a road, my mind reflects back to the history of the 1870's when the Jim Crow laws were passed to prevent people of my race from having equal rights.

There has been a great improvement, but we've still got a long way to go; this condition still continues to fear to head.

A Portrait Of Jesus

The movie called "The Last Temptation of Christ" has caused a great deal of controversy. I have not seen the movie, but all the sensationalism surrounding it has helped to reaffirm a deep conviction I have held for years - I would rather get my portrayal of Jesus from the Bible.

From the Gospel of John, chapter one, I want to paint a picture of Jesus.

The picture will be drawn from four verses which John used to describe Jesus.

First, the verb "was" appears three times in John 1:1. "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God." That verb refers to continuous existence, thus, it refers to what we call the pre-existence of Jesus. Jesus had always existed before he came and lived on the earth as a human.

Second, the verb "made" appears three times in John 1:3. "All things were made by him; and without him, not anything made that was made."

The same verb was used in John 1:12 to describe the change which occurs in God's people. "But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God; even to them that believe on his name."

The word translated "to become" in verse 12 was the same word in the original Greek language as the word translated "made" in verse 3.

The King James translators chose to translate the verb differently in these two verses.

Views From THE PRESSBOX

By Ricky Mularz, Editor

I realize that Christmas means Santa Claus and toys for all the kids, but I'm convinced that Halloween must rank a close second. After going through another trick-or-treating Saturday night and seeing the excitement on the faces of the little clowns, ghosts, cowboys and cartoon characters that visited the Mularz house, and the joy on the face of our little girl, Santa had better watch out...at least for a while!

TIGERS CLOSE OUT ANOTHER SUCCESSFUL REGULAR SEASON WITH WIN OVER HAWKS

The Elba Tigers closed out the regular season Friday night by blanking the Daleville Warhawks 24-0 and in doing so finished the regular season with an outstanding 8-1 record. To post an 8-1 record is no small feat, but when a team can win eight games over teams like Cottonwood, Opp, Luverne, Troy, Andalusia and Daleville, the accomplishment tends to gain a little luster. Elba fans have become spoiled over the past five years and this year's squad has done nothing to change that!

The Elba offense rolled up almost 300 yards on the ground against Daleville and only a couple of mistakes kept the Tigers from rolling up a bunch more points. Elba got close twice and came away empty handed once because of a fumble and the other due to a penalty, but still put plenty of points on the scoreboard and showed improvement in many areas. Anthony Brooks gained over 100 yards for the second straight week from his fullback position, while Reggie Horstead and Keith Henderson both had big gains at tailback and Leon Coleman had another solid night at fullback along with Brooks. The Elba running game has taken on a new dimension in recent weeks as the fullbacks have gone over 100 yards for three games in a row and with the inside game clicking, the outside game just broke loose. Kevin Matthews hit another long pass for a touchdown and passed for almost 100 yards, giving the Tigers a balanced offensive attack.

Over on defense, Elba got its sixth shutout of the year with the 24-0 win and while I haven't checked, that has to be a modern record. The defense gave up some yardage in the middle and missed too many tackles, but again showed how difficult it was to drive against and always seemed to make the big stop when it was needed. Brian Free had his third straight game as linbacker and appears to be becoming a solid force in the middle, while the secondary came up with another interception and has developed into an experienced unit.

Maybe I underestimated Daleville or I am becoming a little overconfident, but even though Elba won the game 24-0 I didn't think the Tigers played one of their better games. I know for a fact that I'm spoiled to winning, and I also know that I am never satisfied; however, I know Elba still hasn't played four quarters as well as it can and I'm waiting for that one and hoping that once it comes it will come each and every week!

THREE AREA TEAMS ENTER PLAYOFFS

The state football playoffs begin this week and for the first time ever three of the four teams in our outside coverage area are in post-season action. The playoffs are always exciting and this year I guess they're four times more exciting than usual. Here is a look back at the final week of the regular season...

New Brockton had no problem in defeating Zion Chapel and it appears that the Gamecocks are entering the playoffs at full speed. In years past the Gamecocks would pile up the wins during the season, only to have some bad luck late and go into the playoffs at less than full speed. This year, however, the injuries hit early in the season and now the Gamecocks are going into the playoffs running!

Kinston struggled all season and lost its regular season finale to Brantley, but the Bulldogs and their coaches deserve a lot of credit for making the playoffs. The Bulldogs had a very young team and were hit with some crucial injuries midway through the year, but never gave up and just kept on giving it all they had. Kinston doesn't appear to have much of a chance in the playoffs, but they made it and that in itself is a lot more than a lot of teams can say.

Zion Chapel saw its long season come to an end last week and with the loss to New Brockton ended the year with only 2 wins. The Rebels had to overcome a lot of obstacles before the season began and at times it looked like they didn't have enough healthy bodies to take the field, but the players and coaches never complained and never asked anyone to feel sorry for them, they just kept on going. That in itself says a lot for the squad!

Brantley put the wrapping on an outstanding season by blanking Kinston. Brantley struggled to only one win a year ago and things looked dim late this summer when only a handful of players showed up for preseason practice. The predictions of another losing season were quickly forgotten; however, and now it looks like the '88 season will find itself in the rich history of Bulldog football success stories.

AHSAA PASSES OUT FINES AND PROBATIONS

The Alabama High School Athletic Association passed out some fines and probation notices last week and both incidents hit pretty close to home.

Kinston was hit with a $250 fine and placed on probation for one year for dressing out an ineligible player in its game against Coffee Springs. I know that rules are rules and must be followed, but in Kinston's case it was more a case of a simple mistake than a serious violation. All the Bulldogs did was allow an eighth grader to dress out with the varsity, knowing the player would never get into the lineup, but school officials forgot to check his grades of a year ago and make sure he met the new academic rules. The penalty was fair and it will without a doubt teach school officials to always check eligibility requirements.

Andalusia and Greenville were both hit with $250 fines and one year probation as the result of a fight that occurred at a game between the two schools recently. I've heard several different accounts of the incident and no reports were close to being the same, but something must have happened or the action of the state would not have come. I don't know if the schools involved are as guilty as everyone believes, but I do know the action by the state will make all coaches very aware of what can happen if a game gets out of control.

WHAT'S IN A NAME? ASK THE TIGERS...

With the state football playoffs ready to begin, I always like to check on trivia about the playoffs and this week will take a look at the nicknames of the teams involved. There are 192 teams involved in the playoffs and of the teams there are a total of 20 different nicknames. Tigers lead the pack with 26 teams, followed by the Bulldogs (21), Panthers (17), Wildcats (15) and Eagles (10). There are, of course, some colorful names like the Golden Tigers, Blue Eagles, Golden Bears and Red Raiders, so, sports-writers shouldn't have a hard time writing colorful stories about just about all the games.

POLISH PLAYOFF PROGNOSTICATIONS...

Ye Ole Polish Prognosticator hit on 32 of 39 picks last week and this week has cleaned up the crystal ball in hopes of starting the playoffs off with a bang. I just hope I used the right kind of cleaner!

Elba Tigers to battle Holtville in 3A playoff opener

The Elba Tigers will enter the state football playoffs for the sixth straight year Friday night when they host the Holtville Bulldogs in the opening round of Class 3A action.

The Tigers will carry an impressive 8-1 record into the contest, while Holtville will bring a 3-7 slate into the battle.

Holtville's wins were over Marbury, Briarwood Christian and Dallas County, while the losses were to Calera, Maplesville, Elmore County, Catholic, Luverne, Reelown and Jemison.

"Don't let their record fool ya," warned Elba's Coach Wood, "Holtville has a good football team and could very well be the sleeper in the 3A ranks in the playoffs!"

"Holtville had some problems early in the season and lost some players," said Wood, "and then their coach resigned after a few weeks and when they got a new coach the players came back and in recent weeks they have begun to play pretty good football. The players up in Holtville have to feel like the season has started all over again since they got a new coach and they are fired up about being in the playoffs."

"On offense," stated Wood, "they run out of an I formation and their running game is their strength. They have a big fullback who likes to hit the middle, two good tailbacks with the speed to get outside and a quarterback who is comfortable both running and passing. The Holtville line has good size and can blow the defense off the ball. Over on defense, they use a multiple scheme and will use both a five and six man front. They use their size to try to take away their opponents' running game and their linebackers are really hitters. Holtville's defense held Luverne to only 12 points and they have the size to shutdown a running game on any given night."

"If we hope to win," said Wood, "we'll have to play solid football on both sides of the ball and on the kicking game. It will be a tough game for us and if our players don't get up for the game it could be our last!"

On offense we'll have to be able to block their big linemen and use the pass to try to catch them off balance," stated Wood. "We have to be able to run to win and that means we'll have to block well. On defense we'll have to play real physical up front and be aggressive enough to stop their backs and still be sound enough to be ready to stop the big play. This will be our fourth straight game against a physical team and we'll just have to be ready to play."

Holtville's record is no indication of what type team they have," repeated Coach Wood, "and we will have to be ready to play or the playoffs won't last long."

When asked about last week's win over Daleville, Coach Wood stated "After watching the film we played better than I thought. The offensive line, Defense and kicking

ELBA VS. HOLTVILLE

The Tigers posted six shutouts during the season and rolled up eight wins, but all that means nothing now because it's sudden death for every team that loses. The Tigers have become old hands at the playoff excitement and the experience should be more than enough to carry them past the first round and the visiting Bulldogs.

ELBA 26 HOLTVILLE 6

NEW BROCKTON VS. HOUSTON COUNTY

The Gamecocks have strolled past all but one opponent this season and many think it may very well be the year that New Brockton takes the title. The Lions have played a very tough schedule and have played several teams with as much talent as the Gamecocks, but they have yet to see backs with the speed that New Brockton's duo possesses. On to round 2!

NEW BROCKTON 17 HOUSTON COUNTY 7

BRANTLEY VS. BEULAH

Brantley has tuned up the defensive burners in recent weeks and it looks like the Bulldogs are ready to growl. Beulah has the worst record of any team entering the playoffs and next week will have the worst record of any team knocked out of the playoffs.

BRANTLEY 27 BEULAH 6

KINSTON VS. CONECUH COUNTY

The Bulldogs sneaked up on the Devils a year ago and will try to surprise the homesteading Conecuh squad once again. They say that lightning doesn't strike twice...they may be right.

Elba Tigers blank Daleville 24-0 for sixth shutout of year

The Elba Tigers pulled out to an early lead and never looked back Friday night as they blanked the Daleville Warhawks 24-0, in Elba.

The win upped the Tigers record to 8-1 and was Elba's sixth shutout of the season, while Daleville saw its record dip to 1-6 with the loss.

Elba received the opening kick and brought the crowd to its feet as Keith Henderson got the kick at the Elba 4-yardline and rambled all the way to the Daleville 33.

A clipping penalty moved the ball back to the 48, but it did little more than delay the first score of the night as the Tigers marched 48 yards in 7 plays to reach paydirt!

Keith Henderson was the work-horse of the drive, gaining 31 yards on 4 carries, and also got the touchdown on a 3 yard run. The extra-point try failed and with 9:03 still left in the first quarter Elba was off and running with a quick 6-0 lead.

The two rivals swapped punts on the next 5 offensive possessions as both defenses began to take command; however, the Tigers put the ball in play at their 35 yardline with 8:36 left in the half and two plays later were back in the endzone.

A 9 yard run by Reggie Horstead got the brief scoring drive off to a quick start, while the score came on second down when Kevin Matthews tossed a 56 yard touchdown pass to David Rowe. Horstead ran in for the two-point conversion and with 7:57 left in the half the Elba lead was up to 14-0.

Daleville appeared to be right back in the game only three plays after the score when quarterback Chuck Perkins broke loose and raced 68 yards for apparent touchdown, but a penalty nullified the score and the Hawks were left with a second down and 22 yard back at the Daleville 24. Daleville moved back across midfield behind the running of Tony Richardson, but after being hit with another major distance penalty couldn't keep the drive alive and punted the ball away.

Elba got the ball at its 7 yardline following the punt and threatened to add to its lead as the Tigers marched to a first down at the Daleville 33 with time running out, only to see the drive end with an interception near the goal line as Elba went in at the half with a 14-0 lead.

The Tigers took the second half kickoff and again started a march toward the Warhawk endzone!

Anthony Brooks was the main weapon for the Tigers during the drive as he gained 55 yards on 5 carries and appeared to cross the goal line for a touchdown, only to have the ball knocked loose and see the drive end when a Daleville defender recovered in the endzone.

Daleville showed signs of life on its first series of the half as it marched to a first down at the Elba 27 yardline behind the running of Tony Richardson and Chuck Perkins, only to see the Elba defense rise to the challenge and stop the Hawks back to midfield.

A 31 yard interception return by Elba's Greg Wright late in the third quarter set the Tigers up with a first down at the Daleville 35 and Elba quickly moved to a first down at the 12 on a big pass play from Kevin Matthews to Greg Wright. A penalty slowed the march for the Tigers, but Elba managed to salvage three points as on fourth down Wade Hart hit a 33 yard field goal with 9:16 left in the game to up Elba's lead to 17-0.

The Tigers got the ball back at midfield midway through the stanza following a short punt and drove 50 yards in 5 plays to once again reach paydirt!

A 14 yard run by Reggie Horstead got the drive off to a fast start, while it was Greg Wright who got the score when he dashed 26 yards on a reverse. Brian Goodgame added the extra point and with 3:49 left on the clock it was all over but the shouting as Elba had the win 24-0.

Anthony Brooks gained 104 yards on 11 carries to lead the Elba ground attack, while Reggie Horstead added 45 yards on 7 carries and Keith Henderson gained 44 yards on 9 carries. Kevin Matthews hit on 5 of 10 passes for 99 yards to spark the passing game and the leading receiver was David Rowe with 2 catches for 65 yards.

Daleville's Tony Richardson was a one-man show offensively for the Warhawks as he gained 101 yards on 25 carries and caught one pass for 8 yards.

Brian Free made 12 solo stops and had 2 assists to lead the Elba defense, while other defensive leaders included Ronald McKinnon (7 tackles), Audie Fudge (6 tackles) and Tim Caldwell (5 tackles).

New Brockton rips Rebels 42-0

BY GREG BRUNSON

The New Brockton Gamecocks journeyed across the county Friday night to battle the Zion Chapel Rebels and brought home a decisive 42-0 victory.

The Gamecocks received the opening kick and quickly drove the length of the field behind the running of Robert Kilow. Kilow gained 54 yards on 8 carries during the drive as New Brockton moved from its 20 to the Zion Chapel 5 yardline; however, the Rebels rose up to stop the challenge and took over on downs.

The Gamecocks got the ball right back at the Rebel 35 following a short punt and this time made little time reaching paydirt as on the second play of the possession Louis Page took a handoff and rambled 29 yards for a touchdown. William Moguel's extra point try failed, but with 3:25 left in the opening stanza New Brockton was on top to stay with a 6-0 lead.

Another short Rebel punt put the Gamecocks in business at the ZC 47 and New Brockton again moved in for a score.

A 43 yard pass from Matt Rodgers to Qn Burrows was the big play in the drive, while the score came on a 1 yard plunge by Louis Page. Kilow ran in for the two-point conversion and with 2:01 left in the quarter the Gamecock lead was up to 14-0.

Zion Chapel went to its passing game on its next possession and moved to a quick first down on a 10 yard loss from Jeffery Flowers to Freddy Culver. The aerial attack was short lived; however, as on the next play Robert Kilow picked off a Flowers pass and returned it 15 yards to the Gamecock 43.

Kilow scored several plays later on a 5 yard run and although the extra point try again failed, New Brockton was ahead 20-0 with 9:17 still left in the first half.

A roughing the passer penalty against New Brockton nullified a 25 yard interception return for a touchdown. Matt Rodgers passed to Kenny Griffin for the two-point conversion and with 4:56 left in the half New Brockton was on top 28-0.

New Brockton's first series of the second half was a short 30 yard march that resulted in another Gamecock score.

Louis Page got the touchdown on a 1 yard plunge for his fourth touchdown of the night and this time Robert Kilow added the extra point as New Brockton's lead went to 35-0 with 7:41 left in the third quarter.

An exchange of punts left New Brockton pinned deep in its own territory at the 7 yardline, but it took only one play to cover the distance as on first down Robert Kilow low took a pitch and raced 93 yards for the score! Kilow caught his breath in time to add the extra-point and with 9:58 left in the game New Brockton's lead had ballooned to 42-0.

Both teams let everybody get in on the action in the final minutes and when the horn sounded to end the contest it was New Brockton who left with the easy 42-0 win. Robert Kilow gained 244 yards on 20 carries to lead the New Brockton offense, while Louis Page added 121 yards on 9 runs. Matt Rodgers hit on all four of his passes for 89 yards.

Zion Chapel was led offensively by Stacy Faison with 62 yards on 16 carries and Jamie Duncan with 33 yards on 7 tries.

New Brockton, which upped its record to 8-1 with the win, will host Houston County this week in the first round of the 2A playoffs, while Zion Chapel saw its season end with a 2-8 slate.

WIC Program Proves Helpful To All Mothers

"Without the WIC program, I don't know if our baby would be as healthy as she is," one young mother wrote on her evaluation form.

Another said, "WIC is very helpful for people who can't pay for the high cost of baby formula, and for women during their pregnancy."

And yet another, "I'm blessed to be a part of this program..."

Those are among the comments made by participants in Alabama's WIC program, the Special Supplemental Food Program for Women, Infants and Children.

In WIC, nutritious supplemental foods are provided to pregnant and breastfeeding women, as well as to infants and children up to age 5. To be eligible, an individual's family income must fall below 185 percent of poverty level, and the individual must be considered medically at risk because of inadequate nutrition.

The positive comments made by the Alabama WIC participants parallel a national evaluation of WIC conducted by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

That study found that women in WIC are more likely to register for prenatal care, less likely to give birth prematurely, and less likely to have low-birthweight babies. It also found that infants and preschool children in WIC are more likely to consume higher quantities of iron and vitamin C, to have a regular source of medical care, and to be better immunized than non-participating children.

"WIC is a proven preventative measure," said James Richard, director of the WIC Division in the state health department's Bureau of Family Health Services. "It helps pregnant women produce healthier babies, and it helps keep those babies healthy throughout the early years of life when proper nutrition is so important to development."

Participants in WIC receive an average of $33.87 worth of supplemental foods each month. In addition to food items, they are provided with nutrition education, in which they are taught which foods will help them meet their families' nutritional needs.

Another component of WIC's nutrition education is a campaign to promote breastfeeding. Currently, only 8 percent of the postpartum women served by the WIC are breastfeeding; the goal is to increase that number to 20 percent by September 1989, Richard said.

About 165,000 Alabamians are eligible for WIC, but fewer than 80,000 participate monthly. Of those, about 22 percent are women, 31 percent infants, and 47 percent children up to age 5.

Information on WIC eligibility can be obtained at county health departments.

This is an Equal Opportunity Program. If you believe you have been discriminated against because of color, race, national origin, age, sex or handicap, write immediately to the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. 20250.

ROUND AND ABOUT WITH ERIA

Brethren, my heart's desire and prayer to God for Israel is that they might be saved.

For I bear them record that they have a zeal of God, but not according to knowledge. For they being ignorant of God's righteousness, and going about to establish their own righteousness, have not submitted themselves unto the righteousness of God.

For Christ is the end of the law for righteousness to everyone that believeth.

For Moses described the righteousness which is of the law, that the man which doeth those things shall live by them. Romans 10:1-5

Thinking of you, praying for you: Mrs. Lovie Hooks, Mrs. Ernestine Kelley, Mrs. Lula Cole, Master Marcell Cole, Mrs. Cassie B. Reese, Mrs. Hannah Coleman, Dr. J.M. Kimmy, Mr. Bufus Tillis, Mr. John Jackson

The 15th anniversary of the Faithful Wonders of Dozier will be held at the Mt. Zion Baptist Church, Brantley, Rev. Charlie Jones, pastor, Dec. 10-11.

Saturday night service will begin at 6:30, with A.Z. Stoudmire as M.C.

Sundays service will begin at 1:30 p.m., with Johnny Jones as M.C.

At 4:30 the South Alabama Christian Singing Union will perform.

Choir Day was celebrated at the Mt. Zion Baptist Church in Brantley Sunday, Oct. 30, at 2 p.m., Rev. C.L. Jones, pastor.

Those attending from Elba and Enterprise were Ernestine Kelley, Tyrone, Melissa, Anna, Kimberly, Curtis, Maria, Brandy, Brandon and Wesley; Evelyn Guiley and Mason; Patti Porter, Kenya Hammond, Roderick Adcock, Grover and Erna Belcher, all of Elba; Betty Thomas and children, Wiley Brooks, Juanita and DeNard, all of Enterprise.

If you don't like the direction the river is flowing, don't jump in. Dr. Robert Armstrong ate of Elba High School. She was a member of the SADD (Students Against Drunk Driving) chapter, the Torchlighters Club, under the leadership of Mrs. Gladys Yelton, and later joined the Ebony Eyes Club, Mrs. Elsie Adkins, leader.

Her church membership is Harris Temple COGIC, Elba, where she sings in the junior choir. She attended Northwood Elementary School in Crestview, Fla., for three years before coming to the Elba City School system. Her plans are to make her home in Muskogee, Mich. go to college and major in accounting.

Natasha's parents are Charles Jr. and Joann Warren, Elba. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Neomi Smith and the late Joe Smith Sr., and Mrs. Nora Warren.

Natasha is a friendly young lady who smiles a lot. I believe she has made a good career choice.

You can succeed in life and excel in education. Don't forget God, and build your life on a sure foundation, and you will achieve your highest goals. God bless you!

Shrink And Its Importance To Livestock Producers

Webster defines shrink as a loss in value. I think this definition is most appropriate when applied to livestock. Shrink in livestock is a loss in weight due to a loss of gut-fill or tissue. There are many causes of shrink but feed and water loss or exposure to other stresses account for most of them. Some of the factors that influence shrink are as follows:

One factor is time and transit. Time and transit appear to have the greatest influence on gross shrink. A study from Wyoming involving over 100,000 cattle revealed that shrinkage occurs rapidly during the early part of transport, levels off and then gradually increases. In this particular study, cattle shrink about 1% per hour for the first three to four hours. Then about 1/4% per hour for the next eight to ten hours. And after that, .07% per hour. The bottom line of this factor is this. Don't haul your livestock any further than you absolutely have to get a good market price.

Amount of fill will affect shrink. Cattle on lush grass or silage ration shrink more than those on dry grass or lower moisture feed lot type rations. There are many producers that withhold feed and water before shipping. But this is really not a very sound practice. Mainly because when shrink exceeds 10-12% of normal weight, the animal is unduly stressed and will be more susceptible to sickness.

Weight and/or condition of the animal will influence shrink. Heavier animals tend to be fatter. They tend to shrink less on a percentage basis. However, the relationship between weight and shrink is not great. Much of this depends on the muscle fat ratio of the animal. For example, a large fat overfinished hog will shrink more than a large muscular correctly finished hog, mainly due to a large amount of water loss. Season of the year will affect shrink. As everyone knows, higher temperatures are related to greater shrink losses and greater stress. So summer shipments shrink more than winter shipments. Here in South Alabama we recommend that most farmers haul early in the morning or late in the evening, whichever will coincide best with the sale you're hauling to. Handling and shipping procedures will also affect shrink. It is most often best to ship animals when they have been treated as normally as possible before shipping. Treat cattle, hogs and other livestock as normally as possible, avoid beating them, moving them too fast and crowding. You can reduce shrink and stress considerably. To summarize this discussion of shrink, there are eight do's and don'ts for the buyer and seller when considering shrink. First, make sure the health and disposition of the livestock are good before shipment. Make sure transportation is as direct and short in time as possible. Don't overcrowd shipments. Try to avoid mixing different sizes of livestock. For the most part, don't keep cattle and hogs off feed and water for extended periods before shipment. Don't overfill the animal before handling. And above all, don't leave livestock at auction barns following sales without feed and water.

tailed deer. Two primary methods were used by the various tribes - stalk or still hunting and deer drives.

Stalk and still hunting with only a bow and arrow required stealth, patience and woodsman's skills. Mastering these skills allowed hunters to approach very near their quarry or ambush it from close range. These skills were highly admired by fellow hunters, but were also essential because of the limited range of bows and arrows.

Stalk deer hunting remains the popular image of the woodlands Indian hunting deer and although it is accurate, it tends to glamorize their least important method of taking deer. Stalk and still hunting required considerable effort for modest returns. Obtaining deer was a vital need for the Indians since this game directly determined the well-being of Indian families. Deer provided food, clothing and many other needs.

Communal deer hunting methods were much more important to Indian subsistence. Drives were usually conducted during the fall, winter and early spring and essentially involved the whole tribe. Hunters would be positioned along natural barriers such as narrow valley gaps and peninsulas and the drivers would spread out about 100 paces apart and create noise to drive the deer past the waiting hunters.

When no natural barriers existed to restrict deer movement, a fence of brush and poles was frequently constructed in a large V or funnel shape that forced driven deer to pass through narrow openings to waiting hunters.

Another type of communal hunting involved large numbers of hunters surrounding an area and closing toward the center, forcing the surrounded deer to move past the approaching hunters as they tried to escape and another type was a fire drive. In a fire drive, vegetation in an area was ignited and displaced deer were forced to move toward the hunters.

Deer hunting was a duty for the Indians and it was demanding and time consuming, not a recreational activity as it is today.

ASSISTANT DISTRICT ATTORNEY AL SMITH, left, and Secretary Renita Bowers are shown with a group of checks totaling over $10,000 to be presented to local businesses. These checks represent funds collected by the had check unit of the DA's office and were only those monies collected during the past month.

Smith noted the office works closely with businesses and individual on collecting these bad checks and urged citizens receiving checks to be sure they are getting good identification and addresses when accepting checks. He said this improves their chances of finding the people and getting the money for them.

Friction surfaces between mayor and councilman as board appointments are made in New Brockton

The New Brockton City Council met for the first time since its reelection of Jim Driskell to the post of mayor on Monday night, Nov. 7, and while all present pledged harmony it was obvious that friction still existed between the mayor and the councilman who cast the lone dissenting vote in the special election.

The bi-monthly meeting began at 7:00 at City Hall and after the routine approval of minutes and bills for payment Mayor Driskell told the council he felt a policy was needed to keep the meetings efficient.

Driskell recommended that anyone wishing to appear before the council must inform the city clerk prior to 5:00 p.m. on the Thursday prior to the Monday meeting, to give the clerk time to finalize an agenda, and also suggested that all visitors be given a time limit on which to speak.

"By knowing what is on the agenda, all members of the council will know what to expect before they come to the meeting," said Driskell. "All members of the council will be aware of what is to be discussed and will have time to prepare. With the agenda, the meeting can operate efficiently and we can prevent long, unnecessary meetings caused by unexpected visitors."

The council agreed with the mayor's suggestion and instructed the city clerk to prepare a formal draft of the rules for the meetings for its approval at the next meeting.

The vacancy for the office of city clerk was discussed and the council was informed that a total of 32 applications had been received.

Mayor Driskell told the council

it should meet to narrow the list down to 5-10 applicants and suggested that the city's auditor also sit in on the final interviews to insure the person selected be capable of handling all the duties of the office.

The council agreed and set a special meeting date of Nov. 17 at 7:00 p.m. to review the applications.

The need to collect all business license fees was discussed and the council agreed to employ an outside agency to help in the collections.

The agency, headed by James R. Coleman, will receive payment only through the actual collections it makes and was approved for a trial period of one year.

The appointments of councilmen to oversee the operations of various city departments was made and was as follows: Police - Laymon Tindol; Fire - Britt Lee; Street - Ralph Medley; Recreation - Charles Cole and Sanitation - Bud Goodson.

Mayor Driskell told the council he recommended that Charles Cole, Ralph Medley and himself be appointed to the city's Water Board.

Councilman Britt Lee questioned why the five-member board included three members of the city council and was told by Driskell that the city was authorized to have three members on the board and the board operated smoothly in the past with an identical composition.

"The city can maintain control of the board by having three members of the council on it and that's the way I want it," said Driskell.

Councilman Laymon Tindol told the council that some existing members of the board had expressed a desire that Britt Lee be named to the board, but the mayor stuck with his recommendation and asked the council for its approval.

Councilman Ralph Medley made a motion that the three men recommended by Driskell be appointed to the board, but the motion died for the lack of a second.

Councilman Charles Cole told his fellow councilmen that he would gladly serve in any capacity requested and said he would approve

Elba receives $327,000 drainage grant

Alabama Governor Guy Hunt announced last week the awarding of approximately $17.5 million in community development block grants and included among the municipalities receiving the grants was Elba, which received a grant of $327,000 to improve storm drainage within the city limits.

Elba mayor Fred Moore stated the grant was important to the city and would greatly improve drainage in areas that have long been plagued with water problems.

"The drainage work will be done across the old Mulberry School park, near Morrow Village and along Taylor Mill Road, through a residential area and between Cook Chevrolet and the Elba Elementary School, as well as between the middle and high school," said Moore. "The area between the schools has long been a source of concern, both as a hazard to the children playing in the area and as a nesting area for insects. This swampy area will be drained and covered, as will the swampy area behind Cook Chevrolet, which adjoins the elementary school playground. The other areas affected by the work have been in need of work for quite some time and we all hope this work will alleviate major water drainage problems in the city."

Mayor Moore reported that 18 inch pipe will be installed in the residential areas, while 36 inch pipe

Federal grand jury indicts two New Brockton men

United States Attorney Jim Wilson announced last week that two New Brockton men have been indicted by a federal grand jury on charges that the two defrauded the government.

The federal indictments were returned against the Enterprise Electronics Corporation; its president C. Neil Braswell, age 54, and Mike Trawick, age 32, a former employee.

Both men were released on $2,500 bond and are scheduled for arraignment on Nov. 15, in Montgomery.

According to Wilson, the charges stem from claims filed against the United States in 1985 based on an alleged "inflated price."

In the indictment, the Enterprise firm and both men were charged in the 27-count indictment with conspiring to commit offenses against, and to defraud, the United States in connection with the negotiation of a contract with the United States Department of the Air Force, with making false statements and with filing false claims.

According to published reports last week, the indictment charged that in 1985 the company and the men conspired to overstate the cost of major components of a weather radar system and to understate their profit margin, thereby causing the Air Force to agree to a falsely and fraudulently inflated inflated contract price of $7 million.

If convicted of all charges, Enterprise Electronics faces a possible fine of $1 million for each of the 20 false claims, $500,000 for each of the six false statements and $500,000 for one count of conspiracy.
